Things to note when using databases

- Prohibited from using tools to mass-download articles, as the vendor may lock the IP address
- Bibliographic Databases
 - Provide reference lists to guide users in finding source materials but do not provide full-text content
 - Content includes: Article titles, journal names, authors, years, volumes, issues, pages, abstracts, etc
- Full-text Databases
 - Contain the full content of documents, but only for the authorized online public access. In other words, so-called full-text databases may not have 100% full-text content

Chinese Journal Resources

中文電子期刊服務(CEPS) [華藝線上圖書館]

Chinese Electronic Periodicals Service (CEPS)

- Includes Chinese-language academic journals and post-graduates theses from Huawen region and around the world.
- CJFD provides full-text online.

中國期刊全文資料庫 (CJFD)

China Academic Journals Full-text Databases (CJFD)

- Includes periodicals from Mainland China .
- Recommended to use Taiwan's platform for faster connection.
- Post-graduates thesis academic paper provides index summary.

Subject-specific Databases

- Project MUSE : Purchased E-books (2010-2012)
- JSTOR : Expired Academic Journal Full-Text Database
Volumes and issues published in the last 2 to 5 years are not included, for literature and social sciences.
- Emerald : Category of Business Administration(1991-2023)

Description: The Academy of Management Journal presents cutting edge research that provides readers with a forecast for new management thoughts and techniques. All articles published in the journal must make a strong empirical and/or theoretical contribution. All empirical methods including (but not limited to) qualitative, quantitative, or combination methods are represented. Articles published in the journal are clearly relevant to management theory and practice and identify both a compelling practical management issue and a strong theoretical framework for addressing it. For more than 40 years the journal has been recognized as indispensable reading for management scholars. The journal has been cited in such forums as The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, The Economist and The Washington Post. The journal is published six times per year with a circulation of 15,000.

JSTOR-Text Analyzer

JSTOR “Text Analyzer”, It can automatically interpret and analyze the keywords and their weights in a given text and retrieve relevant documents from JSTOR. Users can provide a piece of text, a file, a URL link, or a screenshot of text through drag-and-drop, copy-paste, or upload methods, and it will begin the interpretation and analysis process.

The screenshot shows the JSTOR Text Analyzer interface. At the top, it says 'Text Analyzer BETA' and 'BROUGHT TO YOU BY JSTOR LABS'. There is a link 'Help us make this better'. The main content area has a light blue background and features three steps in a workflow: 1. 'Uploading your document' with an icon of a document and an upward arrow. 2. 'Analyzing text and identifying topics' with an icon of a document and a magnifying glass. 3. 'Generating recommendations' with an icon of a document. Below these steps is a progress bar with a blue segment and a red segment, indicating the current step.

JSTOR-Text Analyzer

Text Analyzer will automatically identify key concepts and terms from the full text you provide, set them as Prioritized Terms, and use them as keywords to search for relevant documents in the JSTOR database, generating search results accordingly.

Regarding these automatically generated Prioritized Terms, you can manually adjust their weights, delete or add keywords. You can also select additional relevant terms from the Identified Terms section at the bottom left of the screen to include them in the Prioritized Terms list. Any manual adjustments you make will result in changes to the search results displayed on the right side of the screen.

cases, where a party has been legally tried and fined, he may be imprisoned in the county jail until said fine and costs are paid; so that, if the statute in question be constitutional, a party convicted for its violation may suffer conjointly both fine and imprisonment.

It is urgently contended that this statute is in conflict with article i, § 8, subd. 3, Const. U. S., which declares that Congress shall have the power "to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several States and with the Indian tribes;" and we are most confidently cited by counsel for applicant, in support of this position, to the case of Robbins v. Taxing District Shelby Co. (recently decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, March 7, 1887), in which it was, in substance, held that "a statute imposing a license tax upon drummers and others selling by sample within a certain taxing district is a regulation of interstate commerce, and therefore unconstitutional as applied to citizens of other States."

We are free to admit that a majority of the court, in that case, so held the law to be. We are free to admit that, if the decision of the majority be correct, it settles the law of this case in favor of the position assumed for applicant. We are further free to admit that in all cases involving clearly and unquestionably the constitutionality and validity of State laws with reference to provisions of the Constitution of the United States, the decisions of the Supreme Court are binding on this court.

Introduction

Citation-引文(註)

According to traditional Chinese medicine, the pericardial meridian is associated with the pain or fullness in the chest, palpitations, depression, restlessness, manic or depressive disorders, nausea or vomiting, hiccups, gastric pain, and distension in the upper abdomen (Bai and Baron, 2001). Since the parasympathetic modulation of both heart and gut is largely mediated by the vagus nerve, and since vagal stimulation of the gut can result in increased peristalsis while the vagal stimulation of the heart can result in decreased heart rate (Guyton and Hall, 1996), it is speculated that to some extent the pericardium meridian might be associated with the autonomic nervous modulation of the subject.

Acupuncture or acupressure at the Neiguan (P6) point, the most frequently used acupoint in the pericardium meridian, has been shown to lessen nausea and vomiting (Dundee et al., 1987, 1988, 1989a and b; Ho et al., 1989; De Aloysio and Penacchioni, 1992; Belluomini et al., 1994; Fan et al., 1997; Harmon et al., 2000). Because nausea and vomiting are also related to autonomic nervous activity (Morrow et al., 1992; Morrow et al., 1999), we speculated that the autonomic nervous activity might be changed when acupuncture at the P6 point was performed.

Review Article

Gain Insights into the Key Literature and Development History of a Topic from the Perspective of Senior Researchers.

Early Access

Refers to Documents That Have Been Confirmed for Journal Inclusion, Have Fixed DOIs and Online Publication Dates, But Lack Final Volume, Issue, or Page Number Information.

Open Access

Provides Various Types of Documents Available for Users' Free Access.

In-Depth Analysis of Cited References

Documents that Comply with the IMRAD Structure and Have Undergone Visual Analysis, Aiding in Understanding the 'Purpose of Citing References' and 'References That Have a Greater Impact on this Document'

Proceeding Paper

Compared to journal articles, conference papers are more timely and have higher visibility and impact in certain fields, facilitating the understanding of the latest research trends.

Review Article

Gain insights into past key literature and developments in a topic from the perspective of senior researchers.

Editorial Material

Track discussions on hot topics in journals.

Early Access

Refers to documents that have been confirmed for journal inclusion and have a fixed DOI and online publication date but lack final volume, issue, or page number information.

National Central Library

- link: <https://www.ncl.edu.tw/>
- Search for Theses and Dissertations in Taiwan

The screenshot shows the National Central Library (NCL) website. The header includes the NCL logo and name in Chinese and English, along with navigation links for Home, FAQs, Feedback, Site Map, English, YouTube, Facebook, and RSS. A dark red navigation bar contains links for Collection Search, Resource Search, Public Information, About the Library, Reader Services, Application Services, Publications, Library World, and Publishing. Below this, a dropdown menu for 'Resource Search' is open, listing various services. The 'Taiwanese Master's Thesis and Dissertation Knowledge Value System' (臺灣博碩士論文知識加值系統) is highlighted with a red box. Other visible links in the dropdown include 'National Library Catalog' (全國圖書書目), 'Taiwanese Memory System' (臺灣記憶系統), 'Government Public Information Network' (政府公報資訊網), 'Electronic Journal Archiving and Retrieval Service' (電子書刊送存閱覽服務), 'Ancient and Rare Manuscript Literature Resources' (古籍與特藏文獻資源), 'Digital Audio Service System' (數位影音服務系統), 'National Library to Your Home' (國圖到你家), and 'Distance Learning' (遠距學園). The main content area features a large image of a library interior with a sign that says 'Reading Area' (閱讀區) and a 'Resource Search' (資源查詢) button. Below the image, there is a breadcrumb trail: Home / Resource Search. The 'Resource Search' section is titled 'Resource Search' and includes a 'System Usage Guide' (系統使用指引). The guide lists two main categories of resources: 1. In-library network resources including the Taiwanese Periodical Literature Index System, National Newspaper Image System, Contemporary Manuscript Archiving System, Ancient Manuscript Image Retrieval System, Digital Audio Service System, and Taiwan Memory System. 2. Electronic journal archiving and retrieval service, which requires registration on the website to become a member before access.
